Gaming Standards Association Kicks Off 20th Anniversary Celebration at ICE 2018

LAS VEGAS (January 29, 2018) – The Gaming Standards Association (GSA) is marking 20 years of bringing vital standards to the gaming industry. In fact, companies that supply 70 percent of the global gaming marketplace are or have been involved in GSA, and the organization’s award-winning standards are in use around the world, driving the industry to innovation and growth.

Now GSA will be on stand ND7-A at ICE Totally Gaming, where representatives will speak to attendees about GSA’s mission and its standards that power the devices and systems on display across the tradeshow floor.

“Over the past 20 years, more than 1,600 volunteers from over 190 companies have contributed their expertise to create 15 GSA standards in 9 committees. Their commitment is a testament to the power of collaboration. Our standards create the framework for innovation and reflect the combined knowledge and expertise of our members and the industry,” said GSA President Peter DeRaedt.

GSA was born out of globally recognized need to streamline processes and create standards that would spur growth, innovation, and revenue. Gaming manufacturers, suppliers, operators, and regulators have benefitted from GSA’s mission to facilitate the identification, definition, development, promotion, and implementation of standards to enable interoperability, innovation, education, and communication for the benefit of the entire industry.

GSA will be represented at ICE by its US and European Staff. Since the launch GSA’s Europe the subsidiary has provided a sharp focus that has better served regional needs of suppliers, manufacturers, online and land-based operators throughout Europe.
